CASE STUDY

NONPROFITS

Office Consolidation and telecommunications support

Social Services Organization

The challenge

A regional social services company needed to quickly consolidate multiple offices into a new location as part of their growth strategy. Their needs included telecom contract selection, phone system selection, wireless infrastructure, data room build-out and more.

navitend's role navitend's team of consultants and engineers helped the management team decipher the multiple options available to them – enabling them to move forward in confidence. Our team executed a number of key steps in the transition to the new space.

The result

The client is enjoying the use of their new space and as a result is able to continue to grow their business with confidence knowing that they have made good investments in their Information Technology and are well positioned for future growth opportunities.
